

Learning Disability Week 2017

15th - 21st May

Looking back, thinking forward:

Learning disability in Scotland's past, present and future

A week to reflect on how the lives of people with learning disabilities in Scotland have changed since the publication of Scotland's first learning disability strategy in 2001. A week to share stories, learn lessons from the past, and consider how we can work towards building a better future.
